

Yesterday was my second time seeing 'For King & Country'. I had exhorted members of my choirs to come, and twelve of them did.

They were all quite stunned and very moved by this wonderful performance. It just flows. The songs and poetry are so powerful. The musicians sounded lovely and the singing, especially in 'No Man's Land' and the 'Letter from Ataturk', were exquisite... the best singing I have ever heard from LW. Judy's rendition of Mothers, Daughters, Wives is another standout for me.

Thank you for a wonderful afternoon and I know that all my friends who came felt the same.

best regards
